

Hallie Cooper Baugh and H.L. Baugh were the parents of 2 children: Stanley (b. April, 1899; d. April 23, 1899) and Ben Fowler (b. December 15, 1895; d. March 22, 1982). Ben Fowler Baugh married Bessie Mae Draper, daughter of William Matthew Draper and Sophronia Jones Draper, in 1918. To this union were born William Herbert Baugh (b. February 9, 1919; d. while serving in the U.S. Navy on September 14, 1944). He was buried at sea. And twins, Margaret Lucille and Mary Katherine (b. July 12, 1924). Margaret Lucille died July 2, 1925.

James and Mary (Proctor) Roddy

James Roddy was born about the year 1790 and died October 6, 1845. He married September 20, 1810, near the present Gamaliel, Kentucky-Tennessee (but then Barren County, now Monroe County, Kentucky) to Mary "Polly" Proctor, who was born about 1790 in North Carolina and who died in early 1865 near Salem, Marion County, Illinois. The marriage ceremony of James and Polly was conducted by Lewis Byram, a minister of the gospel of the Christian Church denomination. One Alexander Scott was surety on James Roddy's marriage bond. Mary "Polly" (Proctor) Roddy was the daughter of William and Jane (Welch) Proctor who resided near present-day Gamaliel, Kentucky-Tennessee, as early as 1799, on Line Creek of Big Barren River (a creek which runs along the Tennessee-Kentucky state line for several miles and gets its name from said fact). William and Jane (Welch) Proctor were married on July 4, 1789 in Rutherford County, North Carolina.

The James (and Polly) Roddy family appears in the 1820 and 1830 censuses of Jackson County, Tennessee, and in the 1840 census of Smith County, Tennessee, living at the latter date (1840) near Red Boiling Springs, present Macon County. This James Roddy died on October 6, 1845, says his War of 1812 military records, "at the Iron Works" while residing on Big Trammel Creek, approximately 4.2 miles north of Siloam, Macon County, a location moved to about 1842. Mary "Polly" (Proctor) Roddy, as already stated, died in early 1865, a widow, in Marion County, Illinois (in southern Illinois), where some of her children had removed.

The children (known and probable) of James and Mary "Polly" (Proctor) Roddy were as follows: Jane or "Gennet" Roddy (b. ca 1811; d. July 17, 1881 Marion County, Illinois) who apparently never married; William Roddy (b. 1813, Tennessee; d. 1898 at Buffalo, Dallas County, Missouri) married probably in 1834, Smith (now Macon) County, Tennessee, to Sarah Fagg? (1816-1898); Joseph Roddy (b. ca 1815; d. 1859-60, Jackson County, Tennessee) married probably in 1833, Smith (now Macon) County, Tennessee, to Emeline "Emily" Fagg (b. ca 1816; d. after 1864); Catharine Roddy (b. ca 1818; d. after 1861) married 1850-54 to James Hughes of Allen County, Kentucky; Thomas Roddy (b. ca 1820, Jackson County, Tennessee; d. ca 1886, Warren County, Kentucky) married four times, 1st ca 1844 to Ellen Adaline Weatherford, 2nd on February 4, 1862 to Mary Ann Kelley, 3rd on July 25, 1865 to Martha E. McGuire, and 4th on December 1, 1872 to Mary Elizabeth Perkins; Mary "Polly, Jr." Roddy (b. ca 1817-21; d. after 1885) married August 3, 1837 in Smith (now Macon) County, Tennessee to Moses M. McWhorter (d. November 13, 1853); Elizabeth Roddy (b. ca 1823, Jackson County, Tennessee) married August 26, 1847, Sumner County, Tennessee to William Mason; Samuel Roddy (b. ca 1825, Jackson County, Tennessee; d. December 3, 1878, Jefferson County, Illinois) married December 3, 1854, Jefferson County, Illinois to Nancy Jane Parker (b. ca 1828; d. March 16, 1881, Jefferson County, Illinois); Sarah Roddy (b. ca 1827, Jackson County, Tennessee; d. after 1859) married October 3, 1852, Allen County, Kentucky to Josiah Welch;

Rebecca Rody (b. ca 1829, Jackson County, Tennessee; d. after 1860) married September 29, 1860, Allen County, Kentucky to William Welch; others?; and James Roddy (b. ca 1832; d. January 21, 1863 of tuberculosis at Salem, Marion County, Illinois) served as 1st lieut. in Co. I, 9th Kentucky Infantry (Union), never married.

Of these eleven named children, only the family of Joseph Roddy remained in Jackson County, Tennessee, rather than migrating westward.

Joseph and Emily (Fagg) Roddy

Joseph Roddy was born about the year 1815 in Tennessee, probably Smith (now Macon) County, Tennessee, and died fairly young in 1859-60 on Pine Lick Fork of Jennings Creek in Jackson County, Tennessee. He was very probably the son of James and Mary "Polly" (Proctor) Roddy who appear in the 1820 and 1830 censuses of Jackson County, and who were married on September 20, 1810 near the present Gamaliel, Kentucky-Tennessee, then in Barren County, now Monroe County, Kentucky. Joseph Roddy married, probably in 1833 in Smith (now Macon) County, Tennessee, to Emeline "Emily" Fagg (b. ca 1816; d. after 1864). This couple apparently met at gatherings of Salt Lick Christian Church on Salt Lick Creek of Big Barren River in or near Red Boiling Springs, Tennessee. Emily (Fagg) Roddy (b. ca 1816; d. after 1864) the wife, was probably the daughter of William Fagg (b. ca 1790 in Virginia) who appears in the 1850 census of Jackson County, Tennessee and earlier in Smith County, Tennessee.

The Joseph (and Emily) Roddy family appears in the 1840 census of Smith County, Tennessee in a section of that county which in 1842 became northeastern Macon County, Tennessee (new county), in or near Red Boiling Springs, Tennessee where this family lived for some thirteen years. This same family appears in the 1850 census of Jackson County, Tennessee in what was then Civil District No. 16, waters of Jennings Creek. The 1860 census of Jackson County shows the widow "Emilie Rodey", age 44, and her children at home living in what was then the 13th Civil District.

The 1850 agricultural census of Jackson County, Tennessee indicates the following for the Joseph Roddy family: 2 horses, 3 milk cows, 7 other cattle, 20 swine, the total value of livestock being $200; the value of farming implements and machinery, $10; produce during the year ending June 1, 1850: 1,400 lbs. of tobacco, 500 bushels of Indian corn, 20 bushels of oats, 15 bushels of Irish potatoes, 20 bushels of sweet potatoes, 100 lbs. of butter, 30 lbs. of maple sugar, 1 lb. beeswax and honey; the value of homemade manufacturers, $40; the value of animals slaughtered, $33. The family rented their farm in 1850. Ten years later, the 1860 agricultural census indicates that the family owned 40 acres of improved land and 130 acres of unimproved land, with the cash value of the farm estimated at $1,000. The family was of modest means.

The known children of Joseph and Emily (Fagg) Roddy were as follows: William Brandon "Bill" Roddy (b. July 17, 1834 at Red Boiling Springs, Smith (now Macon) County, Tennessee; d. January 31, 1924 at Tompkinsville, Monroe County, Kentucky) married 1st on November 9, 1858 at Whitleyville, Jackson County, Tennessee to Josephine Napoleon Price (b. December 15, 1840; d. April 2, 1884 on Pine Lick Ford of Jennings Creek, Jackson County), he marrying 2ndly. on April 5, 1885 to Miss Emeline W. Frailey (b. April 9, 1849; d. March 11, 1920) of Monroe County, Kentucky; Mary Margaret Roddy (b. July 9, 1837; d. July 10, 1906 in El Dorado, Butler County, Kansas) married September 10, 1860, Jackson County, to Anderson W. Smith (b. June 5, 1837; d. July 3, 1871 Buffalo, Dallas County, Missouri); Eliza Roddy (b. ca 1838; d. after 1859) no further information; Lydda Roddy (b. ca 1840; d. after 1905) married ca 1858 Jackson County, Tennessee to Henry T. Smith, moved after the Civil War to near Wichita, Sedgwick County, Kansas; Nancy Roddy (b. ca 1842; d. ca 1888) married ca 1862 Jackson County, Tennessee to Logan Fillmore Huffines; Zachariah Taylor Roddy (b. October 16, 1844; d. November 29, 1928 in Marion County, Illinois) married February 6, 1868, Marion County, Illinois to Elizabeth Emeline Charlton; Robert "Bob" Roddy (b. ca 1847, Jackson County, Tennessee; d. March 7, 1903 at or near Lafayette, Macon County, Tennessee) married October 15, 1871 to Mary "Pop" Dixon (b. ca 1846; d. August 16, 1936); and Sarah A. Roddy (b. ca 1849, Jackson County, Tennessee; d. 1886, Warren County, Kentucky) married April 25, 1871, Warren County, Kentucky to Jesse E. Gott.

William Brandon "Bill" Roddy

William Brandon "Bill" Roddy was born July 17, 1834 at Red Boiling Springs, on Salt Lick Creek of Big Barren River, then Smith (now Macon) County, Tennessee and died in his 90th year on January 31, 1924 at Tompkinsville, Monroe County, Kentucky. He was the son of Joseph Roddy (b. ca 1815; d. 1859-60) and wife Emily (Fagg) Roddy (b. ca 1816; d. after 1864). At about ten years of age his parents moved the family to the upper Jennings Creek section of Jackson County, Tennessee, where he grew to manhood and spent some forty years of his life, becoming well known in his community and county. W.B. "Bill" Roddy was called "Captain Roddy" most of his long life, having served in such capacity in the 9th Kentucky Infantry during the Civil War (Union side). W.B. Roddy after the war became a country lawyer, preacher, and public official, even serving briefly in the Tennessee State Legislature.

W.B. "Bill" Roddy was married firstly on November 9, 1858 to Josephine Napoleon Price of Pine Lick Fork of Jennings Creek, near present Whitleyville, Jackson County. Josephine N. (Price) Roddy was born December 15, 1840, Jackson County, Tennessee and died young in her 44th year on April 2, 1884 at the Roddy homeplace on Pine Lick Fork, Jackson County and was buried in the Roddy family cemetery on the farm. (This Roddy farm had been owned by Bill Roddy's father, Joseph Roddy, upon the latter's death in 1859-60.) Josephine N. (Price) Roddy in death left her husband and 11 children, 10 yet unmarried. Josephine's parents were Solomon I. Price (b. ca 1791; d. ca 1888?) and wife Elizabeth "Betsy" (Leach) Price (b. ca 1802; d. 1870-80?), of Jackson County, who were married June 17, 1819 in Rhea County, east Tennessee.

The known children of William Brandon "Bill" Roddy and first wife Josephine N. (Price) Roddy were as follows: (All these children were born in Jackson County on Pine Lick Fork of Jennings Creek above Whitleyville.) Andrew Paul Fillmore Roddy, called Fillmore (b. August 27, 1859; d. February 5, 1938, Jackson County, Tennessee) married April 10, 1887 to Tennessee "Tennie" Williams; William Joseph Franklin "Doc" Roddy (b. August 31, 1861; d. September 3, 1949, Trousdale County, Tennessee) married December 4, 1880, Jackson County, Tennessee to Susanna Bell Rogers (1856-1919), family written about in Trousdale County History Book; Lincoln Stokes Roddy, called Stokes (b. August 24, 1864; d. May 9, 1927 at Bowling Green, Warren County, Kentucky) married December 5, 1889, Warren County, Kentucky to Lucinda Frances "Fannie" Brooks (1870-1927), and many a "tale" about the young mischievous Stokes Roddy there has been; Ulyssis Sydney Roddy, called Sydney (b. March 20, 1867; d. August 29, 1894 at Tompkinsville, Monroe County, Kentucky) never married, played in the parade bands; Robert Taylor Roddy, called Taylor (b. April 22, 1869; d. April 1, 1936, mouth of Roaring River, Jackson County, Tennessee) married February 20, 1896, Jackson County to Susan "Susie" Kirkpatrick (1875-1933), raised several orphan children; Elizabeth Belle Roddy, called Belle (b. April 14, 1871; d. about 1900, buried Union Hill, Clay County, Tennessee) married ca 1890 to Mack Allen (d. ca 1845, Illinois); John James Henry Matlock Roddy, called John or John Henry (b. March 26, 1873; d. July 4, 1918 in Danville, Illinois soon after leaving Red Boiling Springs, Tennessee) married Verna Butler; Ida Emily Roddy (b. September 5, 1875; d. May 28, 1971 at Tompkinsville, Monroe County, Kentucky) married ca 1895, Monroe County, Kentucky to Elkanah Ladd Hammer (1856-1955), related to this writer much concerning the Roddy family; Mack Roddy (b. January 28, 1878; d. January 6, 1924 in Monroe County, Kentucky) married 1st on June 21, 1897 to Hannah Gramling (1880-1907) and married 2ndly. on August 13, 1908, Jackson County, Tennessee to Frankie Hall (d. 1946); Herschel Jones Roddy (b. May 9, 1880; d. February 7, 1960, Monroe County, Kentucky) married June 22, 1927 to Annie Susan Green; and Ada Roddy (b. October 23, 1882; d. December 2, 1903, Monroe County, Kentucky) never married.

W.B. "Bill" Roddy married 2ndly. on April 5, 1885, Monroe County, Kentucky to Miss Emeline "Emma" Worley Frailey (b. April 9, 1849; d. March 11, 1920), a school teacher, daughter of Christian and Sally S. (Charlton) Frailey. Their known children were 3, namely: Edward Christopher Roddy (b. February 3, 1886, Clementsville?, Clay County, Tennessee; d. February 21, 1971, Monroe County, Kentucky) married Cora Chism (1886-1967); Benton Brandon Roddy (b. March 16, 1887, Monroe County, Kentucky; d. July 27, 1964, Monroe County, Kentucky) married Laura Coe; and Willie Harrison Roddy (b. September 17, 1888, Monroe County, Kentucky; d. March 29, 1964, Monroe County, Kentucky) never married.

Bedford Forrest Rogers

Bedford Forrest Rogers (b. September 2, 1866; d. March 3, 1948) married February, 1894, Sarah (Sallie) Mary Margaret Cherry (she was named for three aunts) (b. December 4, 1877; d. July 1, 1966). Bedford and Sallie Rogers were both born and reared in the Big Bottom Community of Jackson County, Tennessee and are buried in the Big Bottom Cemetery, now called the Hix Cemetery.

Bedford Rogers was the son of James Adam Rogers (b. May 11, 1829; d. January 18, 1879) and Almirinda L. McGlasson Rogers (b. August 10, 1831; d. March 10, 1893), grandson of Jonathan Rogers (b. September, 1788; d. August 27, 1864), and Anna Kirkpatrick Rogers and Scott Sterling McGlasson (b. December 16, 1804; d. August 10, 1845) of typhoid fever, and Malinda Scanland McGlasson (b. February 8, 1811; d. June 28, 1893), great-grandson of Ralph Rogers (b. August, 1760; d. April, 1836), and Mary Gilkey Rogers, who was daughter of Samuel Gilkey, great-grandson of Robert Kirkpatrick and Mary Ann Campbell Kirkpatrick. Robert Kirkpatrick (b. January 19, 1754; d. February 24, 1835), a Revolutionary pensioner. Some descendants have joined the DAR on his service. Ralph Rogers was also in the Revolutionary War.

Robert Kirkpatrick was born in Camden District, South Carolina, moved after the Revolution to "Powel's Valley", Virginia, he moved to Madison County, Kentucky, to Green County, Kentucky, and later to Jackson County, Tennessee. He was an early member of the Old Bethel Church. The