Problem abstraction: Abstraction is about identifying relevant information about the problem. Abstraction is not just about states, but also actions, and goals. Abstraction is even difficult for humans. What are the important factors that may have affected the decision making.

This also happens to be one of the limitations of planning since it requires this information to be provided a prior. In cases the abstraction is not well specified, problem may occur.